

Schönramer Festbier

The Festbier is a classic Bavarian-style Märzen and, as such, a winter beer brewed only between St. Michael's Day (October) and St. George's Day (mid-April). The copper color comes from using Vienna malts and Hallertau hops. The intensive and expensive decoction mash ensures a good yield from the malt and a high attenuation (meaning that a lot of alcohol is produced and few residual sugars remain - any perceived sweetness is a result of the 6.2% alcohol).

The Märzen-style is nearly extinct, but we've kept this long tradition alive in our Festbier because we believe, and so do our customers, it fits so well with the cold season with its darker, stronger, and more fortifying character.

The Festbier has become one of our best sellers and the winter supply goes fast. So be sure to stock up early with this Bavarian winter warmer or else you may be left out in the cold.
